

Parliamentary Outreach Programme - 9th December 2014

Last week, Rosamond Birch generously came into our school to educate Dolphins, Turtles and Sharks class in a special assembly, teaching us about the Houses of Parliament. Roz talked to us about decision making and how the House of Commons passes decisions onto the House of Lords and if they accept the decision it gets passed onto the Queen. She then makes the decision of to make that law happen or not. It was great to have her in our school, all the children learnt quite a bit about this subject and after the assembly she brought just Sharks class into the hall to learn about debating and how a Bill becomes a law. All the children listened to her and found this experience very interesting. We would recommend other schools having her and we say a big thank you to her for coming to Charmouth.
